Needed Materials

Your child's favorite book

How To Play

Sit down and read a book with your child. While reading, periodically ask your child a question about who a certain object belongs to. Wait for your child to respond. If he/she responds with the correct answer, say "great talking" and move on.

Example

You might say "whose bed is this?" and your child responds with "it is billy's bed." If your child doesn't say the right answer, tell him/her the correct response and ask for a repetition. Then, move on!

Tip

Don't make it into a quiz. After a few nights or months of reading, your child will start to pick up on the pattern.
