Present Progressive Cards

How To Play

Print the cards below or open them on a computer, tablet, or any other device. If you printed the pictures, cut them out.

First, describe a picture (i.e., she is running). Ask your child to repeat. Do this a few times so your child learns the grammatical structure.

Next, show your child a picture and see if he/she can say the sentence without being prompted. For example, show your child a picture of a girl running. If your child says "girl" or "run," say "good job. Girl is running." Wait a few seconds to see if your child will repeat the correct grammatical structure. If your child doesn't repeat it, don't worry. Say the sentence again and move on. Don't force repetitions. It is not recommended at this age.

Tip

- Some children LOVE to act out these action cards. This usually increases interest in participating. Try saying the sentence and then acting it out.

Other grammatical structures to target:

(once your child masters present progressive)

- Use of articles "a" and "the"
- Pronouns "he" and "she"
