What/What Doing Questions Playtime

Needed Materials

Any toy

How To Play

Play with your child and ask “what” and “what doing” questions while you play. This may already be happening naturally. Adults tend to ask “what” questions quite frequently. If not, be aware of them and make sure to ask them!

Make sure to ask both “what” and “what doing” questions.

Tip

- If your child does not answer a “what” question correctly, model the correct response and ask your child to repeat it. Then, keep playing
- Be careful not to make playtime into quiz time.
